Upcoming Events

Dear Parents and Carers,

As we move into Week 7, I want to take a moment to encourage our students as they prepare for the upcoming NAPLAN assessments. NAPLAN, which stands for the National Assessment Program – Literacy and Numeracy, is an important test for students in years 3, 5, 7, and 9. It helps us understand how well students are learning and where they might need extra support.

We have been getting students ready for these assessments through familiarisation activities using the online platform in reading, writing, and mathematics. I encourage parents to support their children by discussing the importance of doing their best without adding too much pressure. A positive attitude can really help!

I also want to highlight how crucial it is for students to attend school every day. Each school day offers valuable learning experiences and helps students develop important social skills. When students come to school regularly, they are more likely to achieve better academic results and feel more connected to their classmates and teachers.

I understand that sometimes attendance can be challenging due to illness or family commitments. However, I encourage you to prioritise school attendance as much as possible. If your child is having difficulties that affect their attendance, please don't hesitate to reach out to our school for assistance. We are here to help!

We have a few exciting events coming up in the next few weeks so please add them to your calendar.

Warm regards,
Shelly Kennedy
